

Regency Blues

by Christopher Wilson-Tate

Christopher on his quilt travels around the British Isles

New Designer

Regency Blues is a beautiful collection of prints inspired by quilts in my private collection of antique British Quilts, dating from the late 18th Century and early 19th Century.

In my almost forty years of traveling throughout the British Isles finding and purchasing antique quilts, I wanted my first collection with Moda Fabrics to have connections to my native Northumberland. The prints are drawn from quilts originating in the North East of England, and the prints have been named for some of the beautiful places there – Berwick, Lindisfarne and Chipchase.
